UR, Arabic, English are the official languages of India. These are the Motherlode of Dawah in Quran. Talk about “Surah Al Kathir Kauthar” and "Allah will give it to you, and whosoever of you is requesting Favour from Allah will be given it”. And “so why are you being so stubborn and refusing it?” Just because you do not want to compromise on the religious aspect of Islam you can opt to accept it without any difficulty. There is no contradiction between Surah Alkathir and other Surah of the Quran. According to Surah Al Qadar all thing works in accordance with Surah Alkathir. Allah says in Surah Al-Kathir : "Surely We have given you (Al S.108) Kausar. We have certainly given you (AL S.108) Kausar (i.e., mastery)". `Request.GetResponse().GetResponseStream();` But sometimes one of the servers is unavailable. How can I request data from different servers in a batch (multiple request/response)? A: A couple of options, I like neither. `WebClient` has an overload to `GetStringAsync` that returns an asynchronous equivalent of `GetString`. So, you could change your code to this: `var wc = new WebClient(); var s = await wc.DownloadStringTaskAsync(new Uri(""));` `WebClient` can also be made to use multiple URLs at once. For example, you could use that to make multiple requests at once: `var wc = new WebClient(); foreach(var result in new[] { "", "" }) { Console.WriteLine(await wc.DownloadStringTaskAsync(new Uri(result))); }` Or, you could simply write your own worker function to make multiple requests at once, using the same pattern as the `WebClient.DownloadStringTaskAsync` overload. Q: Can a side effect of a form action be another form in the same document?
